DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species 1: Figs. 1-4;

Species 2: Fig. 5;

Species 3: Fig. 6;

Species 4: Figs. 7-10;

Species 5: Figs. 11-12;

Species 6: Fig. 13;

Species 7: Figs. 14-15;

Species 8: Fig. 16-19;

Species 9: Fig. 20;

Species 10: Fig. 21;

Species 11: Fig. 22-27;

Species 12: Fig. 28-34.

The species are independent or distinct because:

Species 1: the status information of radio tag ID acquisition is obtained while keeping the shutter button pressed halfway, and then, the shutter button is pressed completely.

Species 2: the status of radio tag ID acquisition is not output when the shutter button is pressed halfway. Instead, processing from radio tag information transmission search is executed when the shutter button is pressed completely (pressed fully).

Species 3: a radio tag excitation radio wave is sent when a radio tag information registration photographing mode is set as oppose to Species 1 and 2 wherein a radio tag excitation radio wave is sent in accordance with the state of the shutter button. In the third embodiment, a radio tag excitation radio wave is sent when a radio tag information registration photographing mode is set.

Species 4: the radio tag itself has an internal power supply and transmits radio tag information wherein the radio tag is powered on when it is touched as opposed to Species 1-3, wherein the radio tag incorporates no independent power supply and requires a radio wave that excites power.

Species 5: the step of sending an excitation signal to a passive radio tag occurs before the shutter is operated.

Species 6: radio tag information is searched for after the photographing button is pressed and photographing operation is performed.

Species 7: using a radio tag having its own power supply and the receiving the tag signal after image processing has been performed.

Species 8: steps are different from steps Species 4 since the steps are related to a passive radio tag and also having a different determination process.

Species 9: determination processing different for determination processing in Species 8.

Species 10: determination processing different for determination processing in Species 8 and 9.

Species 11: the radio tag of an article in a container such as a vessel whose contents are invisible is detected, and the image of the article is displayed. Since the article inside can be known without opening the vessel, for example, a thing can be prevented from being left behind.

Species 12: the radio tag of an article to be distributed is detected, and the image of the article or the image of a portion having a characteristic feature usable for authenticity determination is displayed so that a changed radio tag or a potential forgery can be detected.

2. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no generic claims have been indicated.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
